Compatibility

Educational Impact's videos are designed to be fully compatible with standard web browser accessibility tools. Most modern browsers (e.g., Chrome, Edge, Safari, Firefox) offer built-in screen reading and read-aloud features or are compatible with third-party screen readers such as JAWS, NVDA, and VoiceOver. Because of this compatibility, the LMS does not include a separate built-in screen reader or text-to-speech function.

Users are encouraged to activate and use their browser's accessibility features based on their personal needs and device configuration. The Educational Impact platform supports these tools through proper semantic HTML, alt text, keyboard navigation, and transcript availability.

If additional support is needed, users can refer to the accessibility documentation provided by their browser or assistive technology.

Screen reading tools work best with content that follows accessibility best practices—like proper headings, alt text, and clear navigation—which Educational Impact pages are designed to support.
